GRANTS AND FELLOWSHIPS

Funding for International Research

Due to COVID-19, Yale Law School and the University have suspended its support for international travel until further notice.

The Streicker Fund for Student Research provides support for academic projects requiring international travel. Examples include field research, in-country interviews with relevant stakeholders, and archival research. Research trips are typically conducted during extended academic recesses (e.g., summer or winter break).

The Oscar M. Ruebhausen Fund for student domestic research projects provides support for students to engage in domestic research and pursue academic inquiry and discourse. This fund is part of the larger Oscar M. Ruebhausen Fund.

OTHER OPPORTUNITIES

“China and International Legal Order” Virtual Symposium - October 15, 2020

The Yale Journal of International Law, the Harvard International Law Journal, and the Oxford Commercial Law Centre are jointly organizing a virtual symposium, ‘China and the International Legal Order’, to be held on the evening of 15 October 2020. The draft programme is attached here. Participation is open to all YLS students, without registration.

2021 Jean Pictet Competition - Due: October /November 8, 2020

35th Edition - Durrës, Albania, April 3 to 10, 2021
36th Edition - Denpasar, Indonesia, September-October 2021

The Jean-Pictet Competition is a training event in international humanitarian law (IHL) for students (law, political science, military academies, professional institutes ...) taking part in the competition in teams of three persons. The 48 selected teams, usually from the five continents, receive a remote training in IHL. The selected teams then meet for one week in a place that changes every year, for the Competition itself. They compete in the context of simulations and role plays built around a fictitious armed conflict. Teams play the role of actors of armed conflicts (military, humanitarian, political officers, lawyers...) in a context larger and richer than the sole judiciary context. Teams benefit from the support of tutors in tests where they are assessed by the jury. All tests are oral - no written part is required, except the application file. The 2021 Regulations and the online form are available on concourspicture.org.

*Ability to participate is subject to Yale’s travel restrictions due to the on-going COVID-19 pandemic.

ASIL Virtual Midyear Meeting: October 29-30, 2020

The virtual meeting encompasses several events, including leadership meetings of the Society's Executive Council and the Board of Editors of the American Journal of International Law; the Research Forum, which features cutting-edge international law scholarship by more than 70 authors; and the Practitioners' Forum. Students at Academic Partner schools receive complimentary registration to ASIL’s Research Forum. Registration for the Research Forum is currently open. Interested students can register at www.asil.org/midyear-meeting using the special code APSTUDENT.

The 7th Annual Clara Barton International Humanitarian Law Competition:

March 12-21, 2021 - Due: November 2, 2020

The American Red Cross, in partnership with the Clara Barton Committee and the International Committee of the Red Cross (ICRC), is proud to announce the 7th Annual Clara Barton International Humanitarian Law (IHL) Competition. The Clara Barton IHL Competition (CBC) is an opportunity to bring together leading IHL practitioners, military academy cadets, and law students to explore this fascinating area of law. A $50 non-refundable application fee is required for all applying teams. Due to the reduced cost of holding the competition virtually, this year’s competition will not include an additional participation fee. For additional information visit here. All application materials (including fees) must be submitted to the Competition Committee through the website and at clarabartonihlcompetition@gmail.com by 11:59 PM (EST) on Monday, November
American Society of International Law (ASIL)

As an academic partner with the American Society of International Law (ASIL), interested staff, faculty, and students of the University can become a member at a 50% discount. For more information, go to the ASIL website. To sign up, go to http://www.asil.org/membership and click “JOIN ASIL.” On the payment page, you will be able to enter the discount code: ASILACADPART.

Check the YLS website for information regarding other opportunities, including support for student research and activities and post-graduate fellowship opportunities. The Yale University student grants databases also a great resource for both Yale-specific and external funding sources.

Should you be thinking about summer and post-graduate fellowships as well as jobs, we want to draw your attention to a factsheet, available through the YLS landing page of International Law, at the "Career Planning and Fellowships" tile. It is CAS password protected and may be accessed here.
