

Economic Injustice: Courts, Law Schools, and Institutionalizing Reforms

The Liman Center at Yale Law School
Policy Advocacy Clinic, UC Berkeley School of Law
The Fines and Fees Justice Center

Thursday, March 28, 2019
4:10 - 6:30 pm
Yale Law School, Room 127

Interrupting and Reforming Court-Imposed Debt Through Individual and Collective Action

Skylar Albertson, The Bail Project, Liman Fellow 2018
Chesa Boudin, San Francisco Public Defender's Office, Liman Fellow 2013
Olevia Boykin, Civil Rights Corps, Liman Fellow 2018
Katie Chamblee-Ryan, Civil Rights Corps, Liman Fellow 2013
Emily Gerrick, Texas Fair Defense Project, Liman Fellow 2014
Rachel Shur, Orleans Public Defenders, Liman Fellow 2017
Ivy Wang, Southern Poverty Law Center, Liman Fellow 2013
Jonas Wang, Civil Rights Corps, Liman Fellow 2018
Seth Wayne, Institute for Constitutional Advocacy and Protection,
Georgetown Law School, Liman Fellow 2011

Commentators

Reva Siegel, Nicholas deB. Katzenbach Professor of Law, Yale Law School
Abbe Gluck, Professor of Law and Founding Faculty Director,
Solomon Center for Health Law & Policy, Yale Law School
Judith Resnik, Arthur Liman Professor of Law, Yale Law School

Friday, March 29, 2019, Room 129

What We Know and Need to Know:
Data Collection as a Basis for or Obstacle to Reform

Creating New Data: The Impact of Law School Research

The Vantage Points of the Courts

The Media's Role in Responding to Poverty in Courts:
Information and Its Impact

The Relationship of Funders and the Academy to Institutionalizing Law School Engagement