

Rabea Eghbariah is a lawyer and writer from Haifa, currently an Associate Research Fellow at Yale Law School's Kamel Center. He holds an SJD ('26) from Harvard Law School, where his dissertation traced the formation and application of international legal concepts in Palestine, proposing Nakba as a legal frame through which to understand the Palestinian condition. His forthcoming book, NAKBA (Grove Atlantic, 2027), develops this work for a general audience.