Upcoming Events

Brock, European Human Rights Law, and the New Fundamentalism in Afghanistan

Professor Christopher McCrudden

October 1, 2016 at 12:10PM – 2:00PM
Sterling Law Building 120; 127

International Humanitarian Law Workshop

Professor Peter McCrudden

September 30, 2016 at 10:00a – 6:30p
October 1, 2016, at 8:30a – 3:30p
Sterling Law Building 120; 127

Legal Issues in Private Practice: Co-sponsor: Information Society Project (ISP)

Sterling Law Building 128
October 11, 2016

Upcoming Events

Click here for more about GLC
Click here to sign up for the GLC newsletter
Subscribe

Peter Lindseth’s expertise lies at the intersection of comparative administrative law, European integration, international economic law, and the legal history of public governance.

Professor Lindseth’s expertise lies at the intersection of comparative administrative law, European integration, international economic law, and the legal history of public governance.

Researching uses of law across time and place, Peter Lindseth specializes in the legal history of public governance, as well as the role of law in establishing the foundations of new polities. These interests span both legal and non-legal contexts, including post-colonial states, NGOs, and international organizations.

Over the course of the two days, leading experts from academia, government, and civil society will provide an introduction to IHL and the law of armed conflict.

The course, which will take part on September 30 and October 1, aims to provide participants with a basic understanding of IHL and its relationship to armed conflict.

The Center for Global Legal Challenges (GLC), in partnership with the ICRC, will be hosting a two-day workshop on International Humanitarian Law (IHL).