Drug Prices in the Spotlight: Why Are Insulin Costs Rising, and What Can Be Done?

Moderator:
Emma Kleck, Yale School of Nursing

Panelists:
James Elliott, T1International
Hannah Brennan, Hagens Berman Sobol Shapiro
Ted Lee, Yale Law School
Kasia Lipska, Yale School of Medicine
Samantha Willner, Yale School of Public Health

Prices of prescription drugs in the United States have increased dramatically over the past decade. What happens when people who rely on medications for their health and well-being find they can no longer afford them?

This event uses insulin as a case study to examine drug pricing in the United States, discuss the impact of rising drug prices on patients with diabetes, and point the way to strategies to curb prices and improve accessibility.

Join patients, clinicians, lawyers, and advocates passionate about lowering prescription drug prices via courts, legislation, and other forms of advocacy – learn and contribute to help us tackle rising insulin prices.

Wednesday, February 7
4:10 - 6:00pm
Yale Law School, Room 127

Questions?
Contact: sarah.aquilla@yale.edu

Non-Pizza Dinner Provided

Co-Sponsored By:
Yale US Health Justice Collaborative
Yale Network for Global NCDs

Funded by the Oscar M. Ruebhausen Fund at Yale Law School